membership for soha residents

what membership means for you

At Soha Housing we have always taken great pride in how we work together. Residents, staff and Board consistently work with each other to make sure Soha delivers great services and plans jointly for the future.

We have lots of ways for all residents to get involved in your communities and with Soha. To find out more email ri@soha.co.uk or call us on 01235 515 900.

more ways to get involved

As part of our commitment to working with residents and communities Soha Housing is a mutual organisation. This is a new ownership structure that enables a tenant, shared owner or leaseholder to become a shareholding member (member). Basically, this shifts the ownership of Soha to members.

This means that when you become a member you get a vote as a shareholder at our Annual General Meeting (AGM)

Becoming a member gives you another way to have a real voice in both your local community and Soha. This is alongside all the other ways you can get involved.

your commitment

- Members pay £1. You do not carry any risk if something goes wrong.
- You can get involved as much or as little as you like. You can make a difference whatever commitment you are able to give.

This may include using a translator to speak to you about the content of a publication rather than giving you a hard copy of your own. We also do our best to offer large print or audio versions of publications. Contact us via the details on the front.
